

extremis[®]

Virus Bringing
togetherness

EVERY WHERE

Look! Viruses everywhere!

50000X zoom

A black and white photograph of a moon landscape. The foreground is a dark, textured surface covered in small rocks and craters. In the middle ground, there are several low, rounded hills or dunes. The sky is a deep black, and a large, bright, circular sun or moon is positioned in the upper center, casting a soft glow over the landscape. The overall scene is desolate and sterile.

Our furniture – and in particular the new addition to our collection, Virus – works even in the most sterile spaces, as we demonstrate with a moon landscape as our décor. Even in an oxygen-starved office setting: Virus brings life and vitality!

My office
full of viruses!

Virus

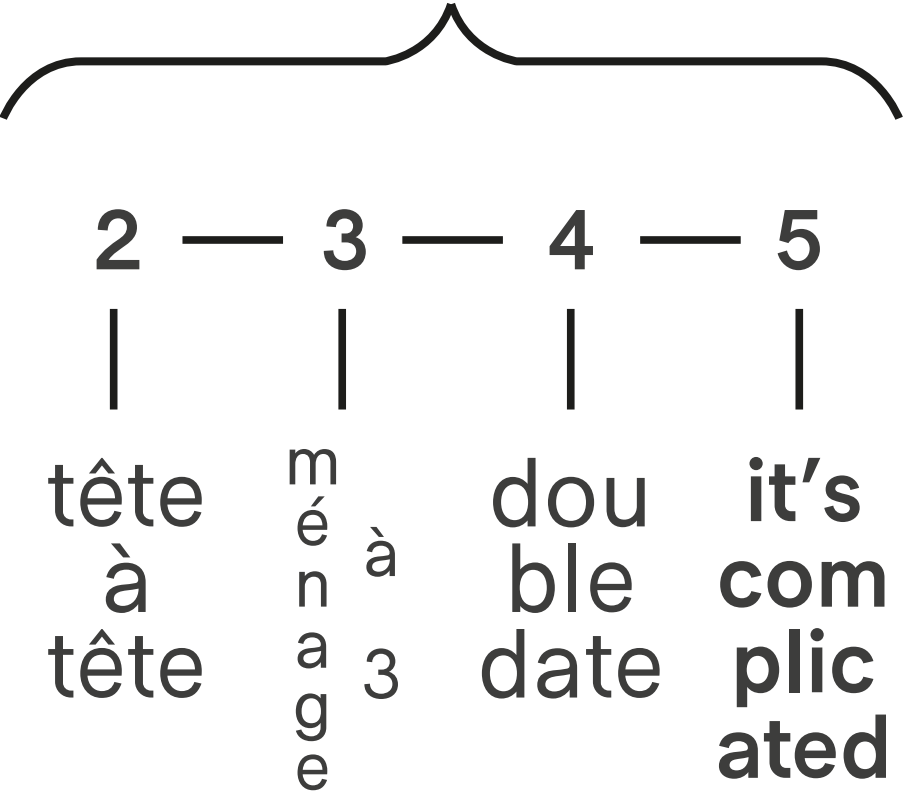

Virus is a picnic table in various guises. Dirk Wynants has designed four sizes based on an identical seating frame for two to five people. The design of the frame allows one to take a seat without having to lift his or her leg over the bench. Aesthetically, it's a fun way of filling a space with a mixture of small to medium-sized seating sets without losing uniformity.

Bringing
togetherness

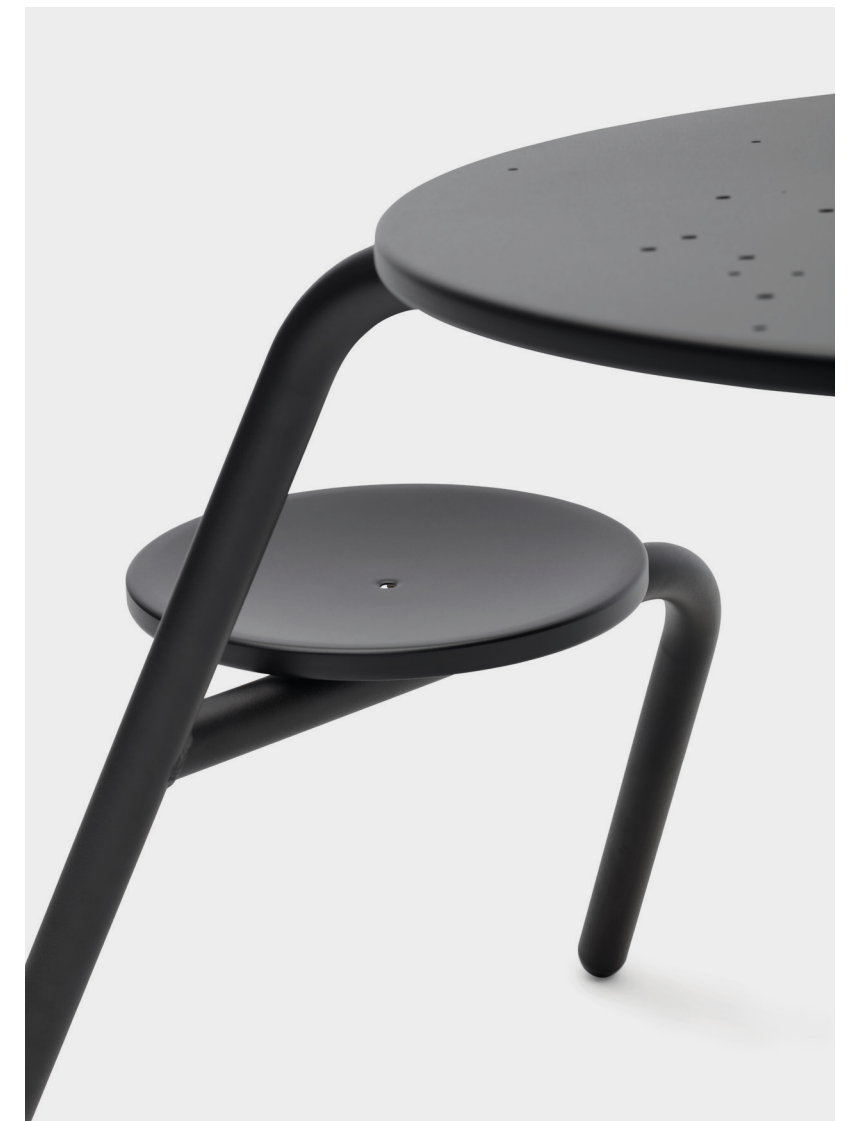

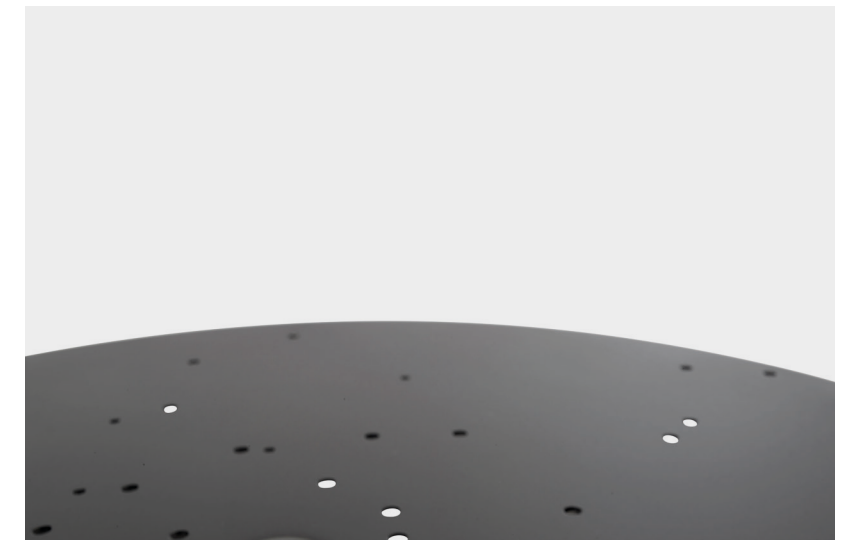

What is more, the compact design responds to the trend for smaller living spaces, offering a solution that enables you to use our tools on balconies and in urban gardens. There, too, there is an ideal Virus table for every gathering. So expect nothing less than togetherness everywhere!

How many seats?

Powder-coated steel frame

Water
draining
tabletop
and seat

Parasol hole and water draining
holes* form a galaxy of stars

* Outdoor version only

Virus, a collection of colourful picnic tables
for playful
combinations

Virus, a compact picnic
table for the urban garden

Thank you!