The visualization shows the cost and competitiveness, calculated from the point of view of the cost of living and tourism competitiveness. The selected countries are the top 15 and the worst 15 countries according to the Tourism Competitiveness Index (TCI), a value that has been calculated by the World Economic Forum. For each country, two indices are calculated: rank in the living cost index, cost index and tourism competitiveness index (TCI). The higher the index value, the more competitive the index for travel and tourism. The chart also shows changes in the indices compared with 2014.
